

Evidence gathering contributors

The Royal Society would like to thank all those who contributed to the development of The online information environment, in particular through attendance at the following events:

Royal Society workshop on Vaccines and Misinformation (July 2020)

Alex Green, Royal College of Physicians
Alex Krasodonski-Jones, Demos
Aliaksandr Herasimenka, Oxford Internet Institute
Ben Lyons, Centre for Data Ethics and Innovation
Bernie Hogan, University of Oxford
Bertie Vidgen, Alan Turing Institute
Christian Butterworth, Department for Digital, Culture, Media and Sport
Duncan Stephenson, Royal Society for Public Health
Eric Jensen, University of Warwick
Graham Francis, Department for Digital, Culture, Media and Sport
Hannah Behrendt, Behavioural Insights Team
Heidi Larson, London School of Hygiene & Tropical Medicine
Helen Bedford, University College London
Imran Ahmed, Center for Countering Digital Hate
Isobel Cockerell, Coda Story
Karen Douglass, University of Kent
Kate Joynes-Burgess, Burson Cohn and Wolfe
Kori Cook, Wellcome Trust
Kris de Meyer, Kings College London
Samantha Vanderslott, Oxford Internet Institute
Santosh Vijaykumar, Northumbria University
Shannon Vallor, University of Edinburgh
Taha Yasseri, University College Dublin

Royal Society workshop on Climate Change and Misinformation (August 2020)

Alyssa Gilbert, Grantham Institute, Imperial College London
Annalisa Verdoliva, University Federico II of Naples
Asher Minns, Tyndall Centre
Brian Hoskins, Grantham Institute, Imperial College London
Claire James, Campaign Against Climate Change
Dustin Benton, Green Alliance

Ed Hawkins, University of Nottingham
Eric Wolff, University of Cambridge
Hywel Williams, University of Exeter
Nick Pidgeon, University of Cardiff
Pu Yan, Oxford Internet Institute
Ralph Schroeder, Oxford Internet Institute
Richard Black, Energy and Climate Intelligence Unit
Sander van der Linden, University of Cambridge
Sofia Olherde, University College London
Stephan Lewandowsky, University of Bristol
Tom Sheldon, Science Media Centre

Royal Society workshop on Telecoms and Misinformation (November 2020)

Adam Wright, The British Academy
Anna Bradshaw, The British Academy
Claire Cope, Academy of Medical Sciences
Harrison Smith, University of Sheffield
John Swanson, EMF Scientific
Kerry Broom, Public Health England
Mike Short, Department for International Trade
Sarah Birch, King's College London
Sarah Castell, Ipsos MORI
Simon Burall, Involve
Stephen Temple, Institution of Engineering and Technology
Tom Rodden, Department for Digital, Culture, Media and Sport

Royal Society roundtable with Major Technology Organisations (March 2021)

Alina Dimofte, Google
Andy Parsons, Adobe
David Frank, Microsoft
Elizabeth Kanter, TikTok
Kate Brightwell, Adobe
Katy Minshall, Twitter
Lucy Crompton-Reid, Wikimedia
Richard Earley, Facebook

Royal Society roundtable with Safety Technology Organisations (March 2021)

Adam Hildreth, Crisp
Anna-Sophie Harling, NewsGuard
Clare Melford, Global Disinformation Index
Dhruv Ghulati, Factmata
Lyric Jain, Logically
Nicola Aitken, Full Fact

Royal Society workshop on Horizon Scanning
Scientific Misinformation (March 2021)

Annalisa Verdoliva, University Federico II of Naples
Ben Lyons, Centre for Data Ethics and Innovation
Bertie Vidgen, Alan Turing Institute
David Coggon, University of Southampton
Helen Bedford, University College London
Hywel T P Williams, University of Exeter
Jim Norton, Coventry University
Katrine Petersen, Grantham Institute, Imperial College London
Nick Pidgeon, University of Cardiff
Sarah Castell, Ipsos MORI
Stephan Lewandowsky, University of Bristol
Stephen Temple, University of Surrey